HATCH & PARENT NAMES NEW PARTNERS AND SENIOR ASSOCIATE

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.-- Robin Lewis, Carolyn Rhoades, and Lisabeth Rothman have been named partners in Hatch & Parent, one of the largest land use and water law practices in California. Susannah Mitchell is now a senior associate.

Ms. Lewis focuses her practice on real estate, land use, eminent domain, and environmental quality litigation.

Ms. Rhoades is part of the environmental quality practice group and focuses on complex, high-exposure environmental litigation involving soil and groundwater contamination.

Ms. Rothman is one of the state's experts on the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and focuses her practice on real estate, environmental and land use law for the development and real estate industries and public agencies.

Ms. Mitchell's practice focuses on complex environmental litigation and eminent domain, representing clients before both federal and state regulatory agencies on a variety of environmental issues.

"Each of these attorneys play a vital role in ensuring quality client legal advice and representation," says Rob Saperstein, Hatch & Parent managing partner. "I'm honored to have them on our team."

With offices in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Diego, Sacramento, and South Lake Tahoe, Hatch & Parent represents public and private entities on land use, water resources and strategic planning throughout the state. The other core practice areas of the firm include corporate and tax, complex litigation, public agency, environmental quality and compliance, trusts and estates, appellate law and legislative advocacy. Its website address is: www.hatchparent.com.
